

Control of Terrain in Iraq: July 2, 2014

Changes for July 2 update: ISIS has seized the border town of Abu Kamal, following clashes with JN and other rebel groups. Iraqi Sunni tribes are likely in control of the Waleed border crossing since at least June 25. The Iraqi government claimed control over it, but those reports are unconfirmed. It is unclear who the specific tribes are, but they do not appear to have clashed with ISIS and ISIS is likely avoiding clashes with them at this point.
